A New President

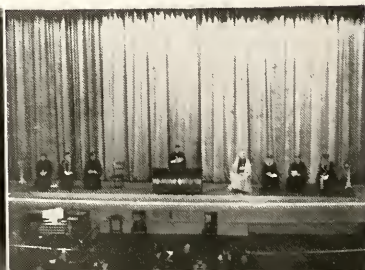

Rev. John A. Elbert, S.M.

The Seniors March In

The Stage Is Set

The President Speaks

is Inaugurated

Rev. John A. Elbert, S.M., assumed the duties of president of the University of Dayton following the annual appointments of members of the Society of Mary in August, 1938. At the same time his predecessor, Very Rev. Walter C. Tredtin, S.M., was elevated to the position of provincial of the Cincinnati province, to which the U. of D. belongs.

The formal inauguration of Father Elbert in December marked the first time in the history of the university that a president was inducted into office with full academic pomp and splendor. On this occasion Father Elbert received the homage and felicitation of many delegates who had assembled for this purpose from the leading institutions of higher learning and learned societies in this country.

Father Elbert has shown himself keenly aware of the dangers threatening present-day education and adheres strongly to the belief that democracy errs in seeking to overthrow the position of education as the aristocracy of the intellect. Being a genuine "mixer," he has won the admiration of faculty and students alike. Continuing the task begun by his predecessor in building a "Greater University of Dayton," he announced late in February the establishment of a graduate school in education and English, enabling the university to offer master's degrees in these fields.

As Father Elbert approaches the close of his first year as president of the University of Dayton his sterling executive qualities become more manifest. What he has accomplished during this short period supports the prediction that his regime will be most fertile in producing new and better things for the university, thus effecting the realization of the full educational potentialities of the University of Dayton, as well as adjusting and remolding existing facilities to meet the needs of a changing educational system.

Vice-President

For the past 15 years Rev. George J. Renneker, S.M., has held the positions of vice-president, registrar and dean of men at the University of Dayton. He has held his posts through the reign of three presidents.

Father Renneker's friendly advice on curricular and extra-curricular problems has been invaluable to the students. His philosophy as an educator distinguishes him as a conservative "never catering to passing academic fads at the sacrifice of the truest and best in traditional standards and proven methods."

MEN AND WOMEN OF TODAY

Checking in four years ago from a considerable variety of localities and climes, we were the first freshmen to wake up and find women in our midst. Some of us, still a little prudish from the strictly stag days, gave them their own classrooms and sat back to await results. By the time we were perspiring through the annual military inspection spring had arrived and the campus, replete with flowers and trees developed an epidemic of sighing couples swearing undying love.

Returning that fall, we weren't the usual sophisticated sophomores—we merely enjoyed a true appreciation of our worth. As proof we put men in every activity and invented a couple of new ones so the ladies could get in too.

Came our third year and Martin and Steffen took over management of the Exponent and News, the latter pulling down an all-American rating; Manning, Niehaus and Wagner divided among themselves a bunch of all-Ohio and all-Buckeye ratings; and the girls began to get into a few heretofore masculine classes.

Returning for the last time to find President Tredtin succeeded by capable Fr. Elbert, time flew, bringing with it a kaleidoscope of inauguration, second reign of Homecoming Queen Mary Graziano and a series of school radio programs. By this time the fair sex had moved in, bag and baggage, becoming full-fledged coeds. Announcement was made of a graduate school to open in July. And now we're ready to step out into a troubled world, better able to face it for our four years at U.D.

TYPICAL SENIORS

We present herewith a representative group of seniors you didn't expect to meet. Most of them haven't gotten a lot of publicity, but through their loyal support of U. D. and its activities have helped make this senior class one of the greatest in the school's history.

For instance, Joe Andrasik was a rifle team member for three years and played football for four, besides engaging in quite a few other activities. Bill Buehrle hasn't quite managed to hide his light, either, beams having been seen through his four years with the band and with the rifle team.

Paul Wagner is well known for his prowess on the grid-iron, and especially the lately-earned alternate all-American rating, but he isn't so famous for his high scholastic rating in the electrical engineering department. He was soph president. too.

Jimmy Pflum, Damon to Ray Fitz's Pythias, was a real Joe College. Ray, meanwhile, managed to make high grades in chemical engineering despite the long hours spent at football.

Tom Ryan is familiar for his activity on the Daytonian, first as photography and then as associate editor. Rolly Myers hasn't been heard from a lot, but he's been busy coaching various high school football and basketball teams.

Jim Krumhansl might be called the class genius, majoring in electrical engineering and clarinet. He builds radios too, having disturbed more than one class with a little portable job he constructed. Head of the Spirit committee, Johnny Hacker has been occupied with inoculating students and teams with the will to win.

Last but not least is Frank Lasar, president of the student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and an outstanding intramural performer.

TOMORROW'S GRADUATES

Three short years ago U. of D. saw the enrollment of one of the largest frosh classes in its history. A swirl of school activities, curricular and extra-curricular, swallowed up most of us as lowly underclassmen.

Returning in our second year, we greeted the newcomers with that sophisticated air which only a sophomore can master. After running the hapless freshies through the gantlet of an initiation, we broke down and honored them with the Freshman Welcome dance.

Immediately upon the entrance into this, our never-to-be-forgotten junior year, some of our members distinguished themselves upon the gridiron. Jack Padley, Norm Hoelzer, Joe Thomas, Jean Stapenhorst, Tony Furst, Glen Smolka and others were particularly outstanding. Following upon the heels of these individuals were a host of others who spread Dayton's fame on the basketball court, debater's rostrum, stage, track, diamond and, most important of all, on the academic platform.

Socially, our Junior Prom, with the smooth tunes of Bert Block and his bell music, was the high spot of the year. We were all proud of it and walked about with our chests out for weeks. Slowly but surely, accompanied by the inevitable head-splitting exams, the year drew to a close, leaving with us delightful memories and the anticipation of another grand year ahead of us. Truly our president, Jean Stapenhorst, and his fellow officers, guided us through a successful year.

SECOND-YEAR CLASSMEN

Largest freshman class in U. of D. history, the class of '41, started college life at Dayton in 1938. After the preliminary orientation, there came in rapid succession the cap crowning, soph battle, sophomore tea dance, official welcome by the president, and a round of school work and extra-curricular activities. Then came pep rallies and a grand football season. First semester exams were followed quickly by spring which produced the usual number of victims for Cupid.

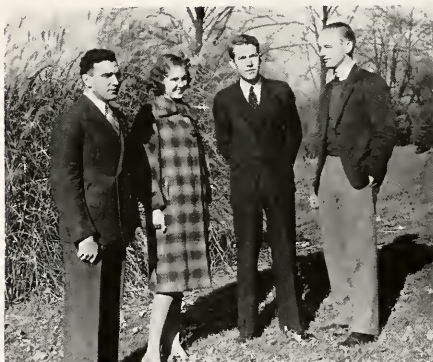

A few familiar faces were missing when school opened this year, but we welcomed some new ones too. We noticed the lost look on the faces of the green freshies, and remembered how we felt, but this didn't stop us from giving them a swell initiation and a real fight in the frosh-soph battle. Our dance, the Freshman Welcome, held at the Miami, was another social triumph, President Johnny Chalmers and his committee get a vote of commendation for this.

Football season came again and took some of our members: Costell, Rumig, Zwiesler, Moran, Pernush, Humm. From our ranks went Zwiesler and Westendorf for the court team. Debate took Kirby, Chalmers, Wool and Shimanek.

Once more spring pops up and brings an end to our second year of college. Before the finis, however, came more sports, a social season, and those hair-pulling final exams. But these all left us with two more years of work and play.

Freshmen

ONE YEAR OF COLLEGE

Two hundred and twenty-nine strong, the freshman class of '39 entered U. D.'s welcoming portals in September and discovered early the value of patience, since many of them waited in line from eight in the morning until three in the afternoon to register.

Exams, always the bane of students, were our main occupations for the next few days. An initiation inflicted the burden of reciting the freshman poem along with wearing placards announcing the wearer's identity. Telling the sophs they were "swell fellows," contrary to common belief, furnished more amusement.

Cap crowning along with the singing and cheering that took place on the steps of the courthouse let off some of the pent-up enthusiasm of the freshies. A taste of the torture of a parade in the heat of an Indian summer day and a battle royal for the possession of the sophomore flag (which later proved to be a piece of an old tablecloth) resulted in defeat for the freshmen. As a consequence we had to wear freshman caps until Thanksgiving.

As a reward for our good sportsmanship the sophs gave the Freshman Welcome dance which marked our debut into select college society.

FRESHMAN WELCOME

Two hundred gay, informal couples gathered together at the Miami hotel to inaugurate the university's social season. Putting aside memories of the Freshman week fracas, with its flag pole fight, the march to the courthouse, and the hilarious stunts of harassed freshies, all united in the friendly spirit of hospitality and spent the fleeting hours dancing to the lilting rhythms of Dick Skapik's orchestra.

Under the able leadership of Johnny Chalmers, assisted by Jeanne McLaughlin, Betty Jane Israel, Margaret Ann Mess, Joseph Hollenkamp, Martha Rose Manny, Leo Farber, Charles McBride, Russell Schlattman, and Duncan Obee, the dance proved a social success of the first degree.

PERSHING RIFLE FROLIC

An annual affair of three years' standing, the Pershing Rifle Frolic is the only dance given by a campus organization exclusively for its members. Held each year in early December, the dance has become one of the big social events of the season.

This year the affair was staged at the Dayton Country Club with Dick Skapik's college orchestra furnishing the marching and dancing music. Novelties of the Frolic included a reception line and the awarding of medals to outstanding pledges by Lieut.-Col. D. R. Kerr.

JUNIOR PROM

Couples, dancing to the music of Bert Block and his bell music, drifted through an assortment of hoop skirts, flowing gowns, upswung coiffures, tuxes, tails and stiff shirts as spotlights threw an aura of red and blue over the Biltmore ballroom. Red and blue suede programs and the U. of D. March added to the success of the dance.

General chairman Jean Stapenhorst was assisted by a large committee in arranging the evening's festivities. Included on the committee were Virginia Finke, Kaye Herold, Shirley Wurstner, William Hill, Larry Fink, Nick Nolan, John Gregory, Joe Thomas, Larry Knorr, Leo Donley, Tod Makely and Johnny Lemming.

MILITARY BALL

Military splendor was the order of the evening of April 14, when the ballroom of the Miami was once again filled with trim uniforms and smart formals, accompanied by all the gleaming brass and glistening leather that make the annual Military Ball the most colorful social event of the year.

At their "Blue and White" ball this year the Pershing riflemen were hosts to distinguished army officers, prominent members of the Officers Reserve Corps, representatives from Pershing companies of other universities, many former cadets and a large majority of the cadet corps. One of the novel features of the dance was continuous music furnished by two orchestras alternating in the same ballroom. As entertainment during the intermission, a squad of senior cadet officers presented a special drill routine.

SPRING SWING

"Spring Swing" is the annual dance sponsored by women students of the university. Inaugurated in 1937, the dance proved so successful that it has become a custom.

Starting along modest lines, the 1937 Spring Swing was a complete success. Then in 1938, wishing to make the dance unusual, the women turned the tables on their escorts by calling for them, purchasing bids and taking over all financial responsibility.

Miss Eileen Fiel, president of the women's organization, was general chairman of the dance. Working under her direction were Florence Siegel, Mary Graziano, Marjorie Coffman, Mary Sharkey, Miriam Losh, Mary Ann Frysinger, Ann Keyes and Ann Ferneding.

SENIOR FAREWELL

Bringing to an end four years of academic and social life, the Senior Farewell, planned and executed by president Tom Manning and his energetic committee, was replete with smiles and tears as seniors bid adieu to their college careers and to each other.

Held at Triangle Ballroom, May 20, the dance was a complete success as Gray Gordon's Tic-Toc Orchestra offered both sweet and swing to satisfy all.

Exponent

DYNAMIC MAGAZINE

Vigorously fanning those few glowing sparks of literary genius that somehow survive civilization's ruthless regimentation, the Exponent, oldest of campus publications, has added its bit to the history of American letters and to the name and fame of the university. Issued monthly, it furnished the chief outlet for the embryonic Miltons, Addisons and "Immortal Bards" of Dayton and, by its active editorial policy and tone of dignity, made itself strongly felt in an ever-widening sphere of influence. In the eight editions of the Exponent, collegiate authors, playwrights and poets offered original and entertaining literary products ranging from the utmost in seriousness to the heights of hilarity.

Seldom did the Exponent step from the realms of literature to deal with outside activity, being content to let the journalistic organs of the university handle such matters.

Le Petit Bavard

PARLEZ - VOUS FRANCAIS?

In the third year of its publication, "The Little Chatterer" is the only foreign language publication at the university. The staff for 1938-39, working under editor Jim Martin, included Tyrus D. Winter, Marjorie Coffman, Robert Rounds, S.M., Margaret Ann Mess, Paul Agnew, and Warner Rohrbach, S.M. Mme. Fauvet-McLaughlin, native French-woman and former Parisian, helped to perfect the monthly publication with her advice and work as faculty advisor.

Regular features consisted of a section devoted to articles such as food recipes that would be of interest to women, a gossip and humor column, accounts from French history, the editor's monthly article on European politics, and the department "Des Arts, de la Musique, de la Litterature." Distinctive artistic elements were provided through portrait covers, cartoons of university students, and sketches showing the trends of the times in women's fashions, contributed by Margaret Ann Mess and Marjorie Coffman.

Sigma Delta Pi News

PRE-MEDIC INFORMER

Although just an embryo in comparison with other campus publications, the Sigma Delta Pi News, published by the Sigma Delta Pi pre-medical society, has advanced steadily during its two years of existence. It boasts of being the only publication sponsored by a campus organization.

The News is published at regular intervals during the curricular year, treating current topics in the field of medicine and news of interest to present and past members of the society. In this way it serves as a means of contact between alumni, as well as being a source of information concerning the activities of the society and department.

CIVIC REPORT

Each year since 1931 the Dayton Municipal Activities Bureau has produced "bigger and better" civic reports. University of Dayton students from all departments are responsible for the collection, editing, and assembling of the material which they turn out as a revealing collection of civic facts, graphically and pictorially illustrated.

Much favorable comment results from nation-wide sources. In a letter from City Manager F. O. Eichelberger, the following indication of the quality of last year's report is given: "It is without doubt the most complete, comprehensive and the best prepared report the City of Dayton has ever published. We have received many testimonials to this effect, and are only too glad to pass them on to the student body itself." Alex Rudzienski and Arthur Millonig co-edit this year's report.

Pershing Rifles

CRACK DRILLERS

Company B, 1st Regiment, Pershing Rifles, attempts to promote character and leadership, and to establish drill units of the highest military caliber. It is affiliated with the national fraternity of Pershing Rifles, founded by General John J. Pershing in 1894 at the University of Nebraska.

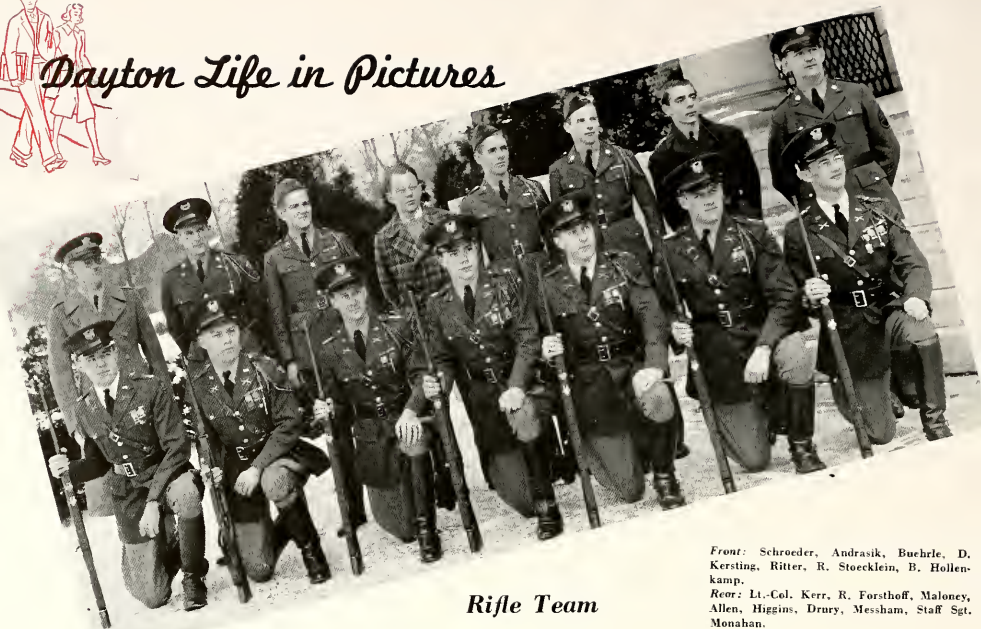

Early last fall 70 new members were initiated into the society, and participated in individual, squad, and platoon competition within the company under the leadership of Major Edgar A. Keltner, U.S.A., faculty advisor, Cadet Captains Thomas P. Rab and Bernard F. Hollenkamp, regimental staff officer, 1st Lt. Earl P. Wiley, Jr., 2nd Lts. Frank J. Schmitt and John J. Lemming, and 1st Sgt. Robert Q. Jones.

Social high spots of the Pershings' year were the annual Military Ball and the Pledge Dance.

For the first time in its history, the Dayton unit was host to the annual regimental drill meet held May 12. Teams from Ohio State university, Akron university, the University of Kentucky and other schools met in the stiff competition.

CRACK SHOTS

Coached by Lt.-Col. D. R. Kerr and Sgt. Charles Monahan, the U. of D. rifle team busied itself shooting for postal matches for the greater part of the school year. Six four-year men and 15 others combined to turn in scores which won them victories over many of the larger universities of the country.

Dayton entered three five-man teams in the William Randolph Hearst trophy match and one 15-man team in the Corps Area Intercollegiate match in which the Flyer shooters finished fourth behind Culver, Ohio State and Indiana.

Highest individual score turned in was Joe Andrasik's 370. In the prone shooting Bill Allen, Earl Wiley, Bill Buehrle, and Jack Ritter all shot perfect scores. Don Kersting's 99 was the highest sitting score, while Andrasik shot a 96 in the kneeling position and Buehrle shot an 86 in the standing position to record the top scores.

Cumulative averages for the year showed Andrasik in the lead with 91.56, followed closely by Buehrle's 91.53. Other leaders in their order were Bernard Hollenkamp, Robert Stoecklein, and Don Kersting.

Dance Orchestra

U. D. COLLEGIANS

“U. D. Collegians,” campus dance band, was organized this year by James Krumhansl, Cleveland, O. senior. The orchestra, which consists of ten pieces, has played at various assemblies and presentations of the student body, including the dramatic club offerings and the annual Monogram Club musical show. Off-campus dance engagements for high school clubs and other Dayton groups were filled throughout the school year.

Band

MARCH AND SWING

From an insignificant beginning in 1904 when Bro. Louis Vogt, S.M., organized a 12-piece band, the University of Dayton band has expanded into its present 60-piece unit. Maurice Reichard has been director of the band since 1929 and has been responsible for its unique gridiron formations and annual concerts.

Tagged with the name "Flyers," the band has adopted as its specialty numerous airplane formations. Out in front of the unit this year was ace drum major, Robert Dawson, number three baton twirler in the country. Besides playing for all football games, the band entertained at basketball tilts and presented its annual concert in the N. C. R. auditorium.

Glee Club

DAYTON'S WARBLERS

Although the glee club was established in 1920 by Bro. Thomas Poitras, S.M., it was not until 1928 that the group presented its first public concert. In 1931 Maurice Reichard, present director, reorganized the club. Through his direction the group became well known, singing over WLW and several local stations.

In 1936 still further recognition was given to the local singers as they entered into musical competition with nine other Ohio colleges in the Ohio intercollegiate glee club contest over station WBNS in Columbus. Each year the club adds to its prestige and during this past year made numerous local appearances and broadcasts, besides cooperating with the Monogram club in presenting the annual musical comedy.

Mixed Chorus

STAGE AND FOOTLIGHTS

With only three years of organization behind it, this group began this year to set traditions that will take concentrated effort to uphold. Maurice R. Reichard, director, associated a modern choir style with a select group of 35 singers taken from the larger unit, and as a result we thrilled to seven-part arrangements of the Anthem, U. D. March, "I Get Along Without You Very Well," "Deep Purple," and other popular tunes.

It was this chorus that took part in both local and out-of-town broadcast programs, presented an imitation broadcast for the Honor Key presentation program in April, and furnished the leads and the singing chorus for the Monogram Club's "Fifty Grand," an original musical comedy written by Francis S. Gabel and Maurice Reichard. Ralph Lohrey is president of the organization; Don Bootes, vice-president; Pat Snapp, secretary.

Choir

CHANTERS SUPREME

Composed of a group of resident students, the chapel choir endeavors to add to the reverential atmosphere at religious services conducted in Immaculate Conception chapel. Around a nucleus of ten veteran members, an organization of 25 capable singers has been built within the past year.

This group, under the direction of Dr. Louis Saletel, S.M., choir director and organist, has presented several three and four-part Masses during the year. With the Gregorian chant as the basis of their repertoire, choir members have sung the Mass by Richard Keys Biggs dedicated to Father Junipero Serra, founder of the California missions, and the Missa Brevis, with music by Rev. Carlo Rossini. They have also presented "Ave Marias" by Rossini, Arcadelt and Bottiglierio.

Dramatics

COLLEGE IS A STAGE

Continuing in their second year of existence with renewed vigor, the Thespians, U.D. dramatic club, widened their scope of activities and enlarged the membership to twice the number included last year. In addition to presenting two three-act and one single-act play, the Thespians also participated in the musical show and many of the programs in the U.D. radio series over local station WHIO.

Guided by Maurice Reichard and Dr. William O. Wehrle, S.M., the organization presented its first play, "Happiness Ahead" immediately before Lent. A comedy about life in a trailer camp, "Happiness Ahead" enjoyed complete success and was given in repeat performances at the National Military Home and St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Playing in a majority of the programs of the radio series, the Thespians were commended for their quick grasp of radio technique and capable handling of roles in a novel medium.

POWDER AND PAINTERS

Directed by Maurice Reichard and Dr. William Wehrle, S.M., the Thespians, university dramatic club, in addition to presenting two plays during the 1938-1939 season, participated in the production of a musical comedy based on the trials and tribulations of college life. Written by Mr. Reichard and Frank Gable, '32, the show, incorporating the now traditional football players' dancing chorus, was voted the best production of its type ever given by U. D.

Monogram club

BLOCK "D" MEN

Now in its fourteenth year, the monogram club continues as an organization of varsity members who have merited athletic letters. This year, members of the football squad received gold football emblems, symbols of their 1938 Buckeye conference football championship. Monogram men have participated in campus entertainment programs, and again this year, sponsored the annual musical comedy.

Alpha Sigma Tau

CAMPUS GENIUSES

Alpha Sigma Tau honor society was organized four years ago to give recognition to students who maintain a high scholastic average. A point-hour average of 2.5 is required for membership. In addition to furthering scholastic ability, the honor society sponsors social functions, either inviting guest speakers or having its own members offer entertainment.

PROGRAM DIRECTORS

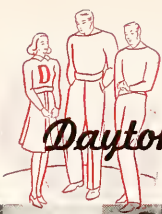

Organized to further interest in the university, the Radio Planning Board worked out a system whereby every student would be able to cooperate as a representative of his department. The board carefully organized departments to insure the greatest utilization of talent, and give the listening audience the finest type of entertainment possible. Script writers, speakers, those active in dramatics, musicians—all cooperated in presenting a series of 15 weekly radio programs over station WHIO.

International Relations

DISCUSSION GROUP

The International Relations club is an upper-class organization designed to create an interest in present day world affairs. With a membership drawn principally from the Arts department, the club meets weekly for open discussions on events and personalities of international importance and student interest. Books and other materials used in the meetings and discussions were obtained from the Carnegie Endowment fund.

SERVICE AND SUPPORT

CABOS, coined abbreviation of the newly organized Campus Activities Board of Service, has come, during the past year, to signify the support and assure the success of any campus activity with which it is connected. It is composed of a group of students, resident and non-resident, chosen as representatives of their respective departments. Religious and other activities on the campus are brought to the attention of students through this group. Donald J. Coan, senior business, acted as president of the organization.

Fine Arts

AESTHETIC GROUP

Keeping in stride with Dayton in developing a heretofore sporadic culture, the university Fine Arts society was founded this year under the direction of Prof. Frank M. Ludewig. Officers elected were Tyrus D. Winter, president; Betty Jane Israel, secretary. Aims of the organization were directed toward increasing appreciation of art and its phases by visits to points and presentations of aesthetic value, by monthly art exhibits in the library and by tri-weekly meetings which brought noted local personages before the students.

Spirit Committee

RAH RAH BOYS

Composed of an active group of students interested in the promotion of campus spirit, the spirit committee has been busily engaged in supplying inspirational student activities during the past year. Highlighting the football season were the "U. D. Student Special" to Huntington, W. Va., for the migration-day game with Marshall, homecoming activities, pep rallies, and the Pansy Bowl classic. While its activities have been primarily allied with athletics, the spirit committee was an appreciable asset in the Christmas basket drive.

Debaters

ARGUERS' FRATERNITY

Covering 10,000 miles and meeting over 50 colleges and universities from 15 states, the university debate society, Upsilon Delta Sigma, has completed an active year. Under the faculty guidance of Dr. William O. Wehrle, S.M., and the student leadership of Donald J. Coan, president; William Michael, vice-president; Glenn C. Wolf, secretary; Karl F. Schreiber, treasurer; and George Humm, publicity, the society sponsored three national trips, extending South, East, and Mid-West. These trips were arranged by John Chalmers, debate manager.

Honor Keys

KEY MEN AND WOMEN

Seventeen students, 15 men and two coeds, attained the coveted Alpha Sigma Tau honor key, indicative of a seven semester cumulative point hour ratio of 2.5 or more. The keys, awarded at a special convocation in March, attest to the intellectual ability of the university's "braintrusters," whose reports had been graced with A's and B's for the three and a half years. The 17 key men and women led in almost every campus activity, not being content to rest on their scholastic laurels.

CAMPUS CRUSADERS

Devoted to apostolic ends, the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade unit, six-month old campus group, has entered whole-heartedly into the Cincinnati archdiocesan organization set-up. Mechanical Engineering Society

MECHANICS DELUXE

During the third year of its existence the Mechanical Engineering society has performed the function of increasing practical engineering knowledge of its members by means of lectures and a complete program of trips to industrial plants.

With Prof. Andrew R. Weber, S.M., as advisor, Bernard Hollenkamp as chairman, Frank Schmitt as secretary-treasurer, and Clem Young as publicity director, the lecture meetings were held the first Monday of each month.

Sigma Delta Pi

EMBRYO MEDICOS

Sigma Delta Pi, honorary pre-medical society, was organized to promote and foster good scholarship, receiving as members only those who attain a high point average. The organization endeavors to present at each meeting speakers whose topics are of educational value and professional interest to the medical student.

Illuminating Engineering Society

FUTURE EDISONS

The campus chapter of the Illuminating Engineers society was organized by Dr. U. J. Rappel, S.M., for the advancement of the theory and practice of illuminating engineering.

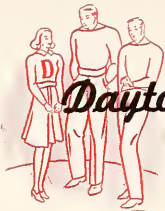

At informal bi-weekly meetings conducted by the junior and senior electrical engineering students, prepared talks by members are followed by open discussions. Through these meetings electrical engineering students keep abreast of the latest developments in the light and illumination fields.

Am. Society of Civil Engineers

SUPREME SURVEYORS

The University student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers, established in 1926, consists of 20 sophomores, juniors and seniors. Outstanding achievement for the group was the 1939 "Letter of Commendation" awarded to the U. D. chapter by the national society.

Bi-weekly meetings of the group dealt with professional subjects, and in addition, various social gatherings were held throughout the year at the homes of student members.

TEST TUBERS

Intended to acquaint junior and senior chemical engineers with problems and processes beyond the scope of their textbooks, and give them a broader view of the chemical engineering field, the chem seminar met weekly throughout the year.

Radio Club

CODE HAM S

Study of radio code and the theory necessary to obtain an amateur license was the object of the year's work of the campus radio club. Planned to assist beginners and add practical experience to the knowledge of the more advanced, the radio club studied the fundamentals of transmission and reception and analyzed circuits in addition to the study of code, under the faculty advisorship of Prof. Louis Rose, S.M.

COLLEGE REMEMBRANCES

Judge William H. Wolff, Dayton, Ohio, is president of the Alumni Association, an organization of all graduates and former students of the university. This group has been instrumental in promoting loyalty to the Alma Mater, and strengthening personal friendships among the alumni.

U. of D.'s annual homecoming celebrations are sponsored by the association which also promotes alumni meetings in various cities. Activities carried on under the direction of the Alumni secretary, James Connelly, include: publication of alumni news, sending out of newsletters concerning activities of the society and maintenance of correspondence among members.

HEADLINERS

Collaborating to bring U. of D. activities before the public are James Connelly, director of the news bureau, and Maurice Reichard, field secretary.

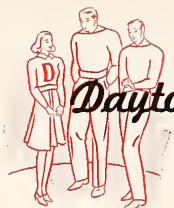

Connelly's activities include the gathering and dissemination of news concerning campus and off-campus students, university developments and arranging features on unusual phases of the university's varied activities.

Reichard advises high school students on college curricula, and frequently addresses senior students throughout the state on college life. For the past several years he has directed a mail campaign publicizing U. of D. courses of study. Besides acting as field secretary, Reichard also directs campus musical activities in his role as music director.

ATHLETIC BOARD

Harry C. Baujan
Bro. Jerome McAvoy

University of Dayton's athletic board has control over all matters concerning athletics at the school, such matters, however, being subject to the approval of the president.

The board consists of eleven individuals, five of whom are lay members. Bro. Jerome McAvoy, S.M., is chairman of the group and also served as president of the Buckeye Intercollegiate association this year.

Members of the board are Martin C. Kuntz, J. J. Hartnett, David H. Margolis, J. Ellis Mayl, Merle P. Smith, Jack R. Brown, Judge William H. Wolff, Bro. William A. Dapper, S.M., Bro. William J. Wohlleben, S.M., and Bro. Francis J. Molz, S.M. Harry Baujan, athletic director, is an advisory member of the board.

Buckeye Champs

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

Much that is complimentary has been and can still be said about Harry Baujan, athletic director of the University of Dayton. As head football coach he has elevated Dayton's position from that of a small, obscure school to that of 1938 co-champions in the Buckeye conference.

Harry is a coach that remembers the true value of athletics. To him it is not the winning of the game that is important, but the fact that the men on his teams and the students in back of them must learn the lesson that they should not be "quitters" or "poor sports" on the athletic field or in the battle of life.

VARSITY FOOTBALL SQUAD

Dayton's assistant football coaches last fall were Joe Holsinger, Lou Tschudi, and Ed Malloy. Holsinger tutored the backfield; Tschudi, the freshmen; and Malloy assisted Tschudi.

It was Joe Holsinger's job to develop the Flyer backfield, and particularly important was the task of instructing the quarterbacks in football strategy. Holsinger left the University of Dayton March 1, to accept a position at Michigan State under Charlie Bachman, his old college coach. Before coming to Dayton in 1935, Holsinger served as assistant coach at the University of Florida and at Wisconsin.

Lou Tschudi and Ed Malloy had charge of the yearling squad. Besides this, they acted as scouts for the team. Both Malloy and Tschudi are U. of D. graduates.

NEW COACH

James Carter

James Carter, 1935 Purdue graduate, is the new University of Dayton assistant football and head basketball coach.

Carter, an All-American halfback, was rated as the greatest running back ever to play for Purdue. He and Duane Purvis were known throughout the country as the "Touchdown Twins" because of their scoring ability.

After his graduation he coached at Lowell high school at Lowell, Indiana. In 1936 he went to State Teachers College at Mankato, Minnesota, where he had charge of football, basketball, and track. Although he had small squads his teams won more than 75 percent of their games.

COACH JOE HOLSINGER

Joseph F. Holsinger has been in charge of University of Dayton basketball teams for the past four years. Although his team did not always have the best won and lost records, they never lacked fight and aggressiveness. Holsinger's teams set a precedent for future quintets by scoring at least one upset victory each season over a major foe.

James Carter, former Purdue gridder and cage star, will have charge of the court squad next year. He succeeds Holsinger who transferred to Michigan State.

A SALUTE TO UNIVERSITY OF DAYTON

★ As a local institution of many years' standing, this company watches with interest and pride the growth of the University of Dayton, and extends its congratulations and best wishes to not only the University itself but to the many fine young men and women who make up its student body, and to its graduates who have taken their places as citizens of this and other communities.
